

Congratulations to Dr. Paul Beck for winning the Animal Management Award at the American Society of Animal Science - ASAS meeting in Salt Lake City last week! Dr. Beck works at the University of Arkansas Southwest Research and Extension Center in Hope where he conducts research and extension programs focusing on the forage-based systems for cow-calf and stocker cattle, backgrounding diets for growing cattle, and the effects of pre-finishing management on finishing performance and carcass quality.